Woop De Doo AT SMARTY PAINTS

Are you looking for the ultimate party experience? Do you want all of your guests to leave your event and say WOW? Then Look no further! Whether you need to plan a large event for your office, school, PTA/PTO, grand opening, fundraiser or a child's birthday party -Smarty Paints & Woop-De-Doo is for you!!!

Smarty Paints, A Magnificent Art Studio, located in Manahawkin, recently undertook a huge transformation in April 2006 when owner Stephanie Danziger merged with Woop-De-Doo's Sherry VaCirca. The studio has a look like no other. It is eye candy for both parents and children alike! It houses a concession and prize booth, a Carnival game arena, a fabulous face painting station, a spin art, play dough, and candy art station, and of course a painting and playing zone!

Sherry and Stephanie merged two great companies to offer their clients "the ultimate in kids parties!" With two educated and enterprising moms at the helm, there is no better alternative for you & your child. Sherry has owned Woop-De-Doo, with her husband since 1997. Their company was based in Northern New Jersey and they are the originators of the outdoor Crazy Carnival Party. With over ten years of experience, organizing and planning events for groups of 6 to 600, Sherry is the ultimate party planner.

Stephanie, who has an educational background, enrolled her daughter in a Smarty Paints class a few years ago and fell in love with the place. When the opportunity presented itself she bought the business, and has since helped build it into Manahawkin's destination for creative expression. When Sherry & Stephanie met they immediately saw the value a merge would bring to Southern New Jersey, so they joined companies to provide a kids creative corner and the ultimate in kids birthdays at their location or yours!

Other than parties, Woop-De-Doo & Smarty Paints also offers art classes to foster your child's creativity with a fun and unique experience to keep your child's imagination alive. They have "Mommy & Me" classes starting at 18 months & up. The programs engage parent/child interaction and are a springboard for social development. They recently started a new class focusing on Eric Carle's books to introduce Art & Literature in young minds. They also offer drop off classes for older children that allow your child to get messy and explore their inner artist. The projects they create are magnificent-- it is definitely not finger painting. They teach art to stimulate imagination and allow children to express their emotions through creativity. Sherry and Stephanie have recently introduced a brand new program called the Artistic Enhancement Program. This is a new sector of classes taught by a certified Art Teacher. This includes a Creative Drawing class which focuses on learning the fundamentals of drawing. These classes are not your usual arts & craft classes, but instead they offer formal art training.

If you don't need to plan a party or want to take an art class, the studio is also available to you and your child/children to have fun. Stop in and let the creativity flow and create a masterpiece with silly stamps. During those dreary and cold winter months when you can't get outside, visit Woop-De-Doo and spend an hour painting or playing play dough with your child. There are a number of activities to do within the studio that will spark your child's imagination.
